

It takes tremendous energy to play the works of Maestro Angelo Gilardino...

...and Shell is putting tremendous energy into its business in Italy

With established & growing positions in the most important upstream oil projects and in the competitive retail market, Shell is a leading investor in the energy market in Italy and is a partner for growth in both North and South of Italy:

- Shell can bring its technology, its capacity for innovation and expertise of its people to benefit the entire country
- Introducing advanced technical solutions and efficient V-Power fuels to an increasing number of customers
- Partnering with key energy players and engaging Italians to understand their needs and support their aspirations
- Building a long term performing business in the Italian gas market and in Europe

...is all part of the energy Shell brings to Italy.

