LACCS is an independent, professional and non profitable organisation founded twenty four years ago by a group of South American intellectuals and musicians with the aim to bring the best of our performers, composers and orchestras to the welcoming city of London. LACCS is a pioneering institution - perhaps the only one - which has systematically encouraged the importing of our cultural values into Europe. We have presented a unique sample of performers not only from South America but have included musicians from all over the world and LACCS could not exist without them. Equally important are the innumerable multinationals who have supported our cultural projects throughout the years, our grateful thanks to all of them and to our friends too, for their understanding and support contributing to make our concerts successful ventures.

... “I was most impressed by the seamless organisation...”
H.E. Dr Michael Refalo, Malta High Commissioner, 2007.

... “Your continued interest in bringing Finnish guitarists to London is very much appreciated.”
H.E. Jaakko Laajava, Ambassador of Finland, 2007.

... “It is indeed needless to express how much I have enjoyed working closely with you during my term in office.”
H.E. Dr Alyaksei Mazhukhou, Ambassador of the Embassy of the Republic of Belarus.

... “All our guests enjoyed the concert and the beautiful venue enormously. I am grateful for your support of Czech guitar music.”
H.E. Jan Winkler, Ambassador of the Czech Republic, 2006.
